New AND INCOMEDING REPORTED Hoyt, formerly of the Plain Dealer,) ha en developing a talent for biography tha his friends never suspected in him. He has been "doing" the lives of our leading Generals in a very "accurate and instruct ive manner," of which the following may sinnd for samples : GENERAL SHERMAN.

The father of this General was known as Mr. Sherman, and the latter's wife as Mrs. Sherman, Her mother was generally known by the sobrigant of "the General's grandmother," and the old lady's busband as his grandfather. The elder Sherman's father and mother, who were also known by the name of Sherman—constituted an-other set of grandparents. Thus, it will be seen that the subject of this sketch, at one time postessed two grandmothers, and two grandfathers. Strange, but true. To this felicitous descent must be attributed the rare rilliancy and phosphorescent astoundngness of Bill's military combinations in personal appearance William embedies personal appearance William embedies utch and Sandwich Island character. such an exicut, in fact, that many have hought the Doric prevailed over the lonic order, in his make up. In conversation, William seems to have adopted a style combining that of Madame de Stael and Parson Brownlow—his words and sensences being as corpulent and juicy as a dried herring. Plessant to his friends, unplan-ant (exceedingly unpleasant) to his encmies; prompt in paying his washing and sutler bills, and possessing a good appetite. William Sherman presents a perfect model of the American soldier.

"None knew him but to love him," None loved him unless they were intimute If acquainted with him.

[We will state in this connection, that
Mr. Sherman is now in command of an extensive foraging party in Georgia, and that

Of a torpsichorean and somewhat chaotic of a toppsicoresh and somewhat character dollars for the purchase of heavy temperament, General Burnside was born ability to buy books, we understand, is several years ago, and with few exceptions, has lived ever since. The late celebrated Mr. Burnside was his father, and the wife the Association at the very opening, as it of the late celebrated Mr. Burnside was his mother. We use the adjective "late" in connection, with this worths comple to cause we suppose them to be extinct— having never heard snything to the contrary. If they are slive, however, we hope they will excuse us for intimating that such were not the case. Some persons might in fer from the New York World, "and other poems," that Ambrose was once a "fred-ericksburg butcher" This is not true. Burnside first turned his attention to military matters when he became a military man. Folks differ as regards Ambrose's

BEREFIT OF MR. SIMCON LEE .- We take man. Folks differ as regards Ambrose's physique; some insisting that, although of large and commanding stature, he is still a "small man." The celebrated Mr. Manton Marble is of this opinion, as is also Mr. Wilbur F. biory. In private life Mr. Burnside ahines with all the lustre of a patent coal-oil lump. There none can help liking him, unless they dislike him; there none can have a hankering after him, unless they are particularly fond of him. General Burnside is now twelve years older than he was a dosen years alone. Therepleasure in reminding our readers that Mrlimone Lee will receive a benefit to nigh at the Academy of Music. This is his first benefit in our city, and the many admirers and friends he has made here will rejoice at this opportunity of giving him a substantial testimony of their apprecia tion, and reward for the pleasure he has given them this season. er than he was a dozen years since. Therefore, anybody who is "good at figures" can tell his exact present age. He was married to Mrs. Burneide at the time of Mr. Lee is an actor of great versatility and force, and by his industry and talent has won very enviable notoriety on our their wedding. Consequently he is a mar ried man, although, we believe, this fact i stage, and stands one of the acknowleged stars of Mr. Ellsler's able and brillian not mentioned in the "Army Register." corns. Bonaparte was born at St. Helena, in the sale of Wight, in the year 1236, B. R., (before the rebellion.) He entered West Poin immediately after the battle of Waterloo and graduated with distinguished hose standing four hundred and ninety in a class of which Suwarroff, Horace Greeley, Timour the Tartar, Jas. Gorden Bennett, Colurada Jowett, Wellington, Kidd, the pirate, Te-cumsch and Sir Hudson Lowe were members. At the commencement of the rebal-tion Bonsparte rushed to help defend the fing, and served at Bull Run as 8th corporal in the "Old Guard." No one can approach in the "Old Guard." No one can approach Bonaparte, whether in public or private flife, without coming in contact with him, unless they stop before running against him. This is the great secret of his popularity among his soldiers.

[Note No. 2, by the Editor of the Times. Squint is guitty of another bull-headed blunder, for Mr. Bonaparte hus never been an officer in our army; as he died years and years are. Neither have any such men as years ago. Neither have any such men as Kidd, the pirate, Suwarroff or Sir Hudson Lowe, ever "been to school" at West Point. We hope our readers will bear with Squint a spell longer. The fellow's early educa-tion was neglected. Still, we are in hopes that he will improve and become a brilliant enkins vet. 1 By the by, we will remark in this con nection, that a biography of General Fitch appeared in our local column a day or two ince, from the same source. It would seem hardly necessary for us to state that we had no intention of showing disrespect sed and esptured on the 21st of May last, at to that gentleman, but as we understand that some of his friends have taken exceptions to the paragraph in question, we take this occasion to explain that it was inserted merely as a pleasant squib, which those who knew the General would relish.

---RUBBER MOULDING .- Messis. Gallup & Mann showed us, yesterday, some specimens of their new rubber moulding centrivance, which, fastoned to doors and windows, shuts out all dust, rain, anow, and dampness from houses. It can be attached to the windows and doors of the most clegant apartments, and not be noticable. It city have already furnished their houses and monkeys.
